The BLM's decision to freeze solar farm development on public lands for two years pending environmental impact studies is the most ludicrous form of bureaucratic mishandling of a potentially real solution to the proven negative impact of fossil fuel economies and dependencies which have also driven our economy to the brink of disaster, and forced us to wage war to satisfy our thirst for oil. I wonder who paid off the low level functionary who came up with this bright idea? I would bet it is someone or group whose wealth is tied to maintaining the status quo, even if it kills us.
