Though we are anxious to see alternative energy, We have concerns that we will destroy much more than we save. Some of these areas are special and are open to many different uses. If we allow solar companies to cover them with panels and lock out the public then we have defeated our purpose. The areas around Saddle Mountain are major wildlife corridor and need to remain open. There many abandoned farm lands that could be a better place for these environmentally friendly power sources. Not a right away across pristine desert.
